

Five Ideas From The Greatest Businesses Minds

1.

“Don’t worry about reputation but about character. You build character by practicing empathy, practicing moral courage, practicing determination.” — Jacqueline Novogratz, founder, Acumen Fund

2.

“I think that the most important issue that will reshape our lives in the years ahead will be how man-made and artificial intelligence compete and work together.” — Ray Dalio, founder Bridgewater Associates

3.

“No matter how small a project you work on, and no matter what it is, put your heart and soul and sense of responsibility into it.” — Frank Gehry, world-shaping architect

4.

“In maybe 20 or 30 years, we will use things like stem cells to change disease outcomes.” — Paul Allen, cofounder, Microsoft

5.

“We sometimes fall flat on our face. But people don’t mind people who try things and fail.” — Richard Branson,; founder, Virgin Group

Ideas or lesson meant to inspire and inform the next generation of entrepreneurs and thinkers

QUOTES CREDIT - FORBES

ABOUT.ME/SOURAV.NANDI